2. have to change password on first use;
3. receive an SMS code to confirm the password change;
4. receive an SMS code to confirm login.

For the second login, Users will:

1. receive an email with username;
2. receive an email with temporary password;
3. have to change password on first use.

 In case of difficulties around accessing Neo, please raise a ticket on Neo Service Desk.

6. Roles and registration

Neo system envisages five potential roles for users: Account Manager, Bid Manager, Contract Manager, Finance POC and National/ Delegation representative. While a company may decide to assign one individual to various roles, the number of users per company is limited.

Accounts created on Neo are named accounts and are strictly personal to the account holder. The Users nominated and registered shall be fully entitled to commit their company/organization in relation to NATO procurement activities, irrespective of their formal role as recorded in Neo. The Account Manager will inform the NCI Agency whether the roles below are fulfilled by one or more individual(s) and provide the corresponding contact details.

The functionalities corresponding to each of the roles are provided in the annex.

6.1 Account Manager

The Account Manager is the main counterpart of the NCI Agency in relation to any procurement action carried out using the Neo. Using Neo, the Account Manager will be able to grant access to a limited number of additional individuals in its company/organization and/or modify the account holder and roles, and is responsible for providing and maintaining the data of the company. For security reasons, registration of the Account Manager is done off-line through the Neo support organisation and confirmed through a system notification. Changes in the Account Manager need to be communicated to the NCI Agency in the same manner as the registration of the initial Account Manager. The processing of this change may take a few working days.

6.2 Bid Manager

The Bid Manager is responsible for receiving solicitation packages released by the NCI Agency and submitting the bid documentation, including all annexes, in Neo. The Bid Manager is the NCI Agency point of contact in relation to any bids or other procurement documentation submitted in Neo as part of a NATO procurement action.

6.3 Contract Manager

The Contract Manager is responsible for the administration of any contract awarded as a result of a NATO procurement action carried out using the Neo. The Contract Manager is the NCI Agency point of contact after any contract award to its company/organization.

6.4 National/Delegation Representative

National/delegation representatives are nominated by their respective Nations. The national/delegation representative may submit Declaration of Eligibility through Neo when applicable.

6.5 Finance Point of Contact

Finance Point of Contact is an individual authorized by the Supplier and listed on the Supplier Registration Form whose responsibility is to assist fraud prevention by validating any possible changes in the Company bank account information made by the Account Manager in Neo. Approval of any changes will be done directly through Neo. The authorized Finance POC is a Neo User, and a different person from the Account Manager in Neo. In the event the Supplier authorizes the same person to be both the Account Manager and the Finance Point of Contact in Neo, the Supplier acknowledges and accepts the costs and liabilities for any erroneous payments made by the Agency to incorrect accounts resulting from fraudulent activity.

7. Conditions of use and withdrawal of access

Neo may be used only for the purpose of obtaining information on NATO procurement actions, sending bids and other procurement documentation in relation to NATO procurement activities and supporting the administration of any subsequent contract. In the event that your Company is the successful bidder, Neo will be used for contract administration including, without limitation, for the purpose of acceptance and invoicing procedures.

The change will only go into effect once confirmation from the Finance Point of Contact has been received.
